PASADENAN BACK FROM LOS BANOS—Thomas S. Terrill, Pasadenan, was one of four civilian airmen to reach the United States, member of the first contingent of liberated prisoners from Los Banos Prison Camp on Luzon. At the airport, Terrill, front right in picture, was surprised to meet his wife who had gone from her home at 1803 North Allen Avenue, to be present when he arrived. Being interviewed by a woman reporter as they stepped from a plane at Fairfield, Cal. The civilians are, left to right: George Messenger, St. Paul, Minn.; John Nicholas, Los Angeles; A. E. Kalakowski, Annapolis, Md.; and Terrill.
